PCCAPS

Have been working with four Park City, Utah, high school students on projects for Rockwell Collins and Overstock.com — as part of the PCCAPS program. The idea is to have students work on valid projects for corporations and to build experience with professional protocol, new types of software, problem solving, etc.